

Bisse de Sillonin

Bisse de Sillonin

Built in the 1450s, the upper part of this bisse has been abandoned. It is the most vertiginous bisse in central Valais

Total length : 8 to 10 km.

Altitude : Between 950 and 700 metres.

Route time : Between 2 and 3 hours.

Location : The Lienne valley above St Léonard, to the right of the Rhône.

Difficulty : A stretch of the trail is quite sheer and not recommended for those suffering from a fear of heights.

Ordinance Survey map 1 : 50'000 no. 273T Montana.

Best period : June to September.

This bisse contains water from mid-April to mid-October.

Departure

From the village of Chelin (Flanthey), cross the village and take the Route de l'Ormy. The beginning of the bisse can be found above the road about 300 metres after the village (GPS 46°15'52" M 7°26'24" E).

Itinerary

Follow the bisse west and when you enter the Lienne valley the trail becomes quite impressive and spectacular. Continue to the bottom of the small valley where you can join the itinerary for the Bisse de Lens or the Bisse de Clavau.
